

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

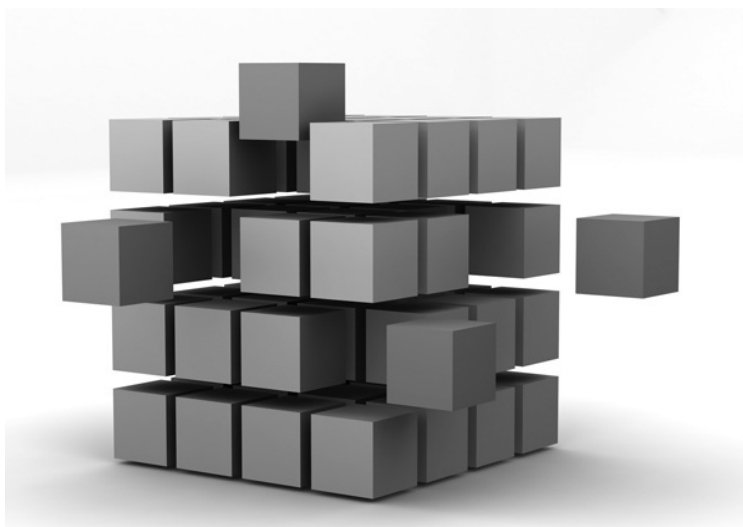

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

The Rebranding Stages

Learning Outcome

Exchange information about people's interests and backgrounds using a wider range of language.

Ask your partner:

- Which companies have changed their logos recently?
- What brands do you associate with quality? Luxury? Class?

Can Do Statements

- I can explain facts and my point of view on work-related topics.
- I can exchange factual information and discuss future plans.
- I can give a supported argument about work-related processes that would benefit me and my employer.

Let's Explore!

A game-changing decision.

* A "game-changing" decision is a very large and important one.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

I hope everyone enjoyed the break. We are going to continue this meeting on our rebranding strategies.

As I was saying, the advantages of rebranding are numerous. First, it will help hide the malpractices of the past. Second, it is going to strengthen the team and will certainly improve pride among staff. It also addresses both internal and external issues. Furthermore, it repositions the company. In other words, it's going to be aligned with who they are and where they want to be. Finally, it will help us align with current trends in the market ... we are integrating corporate social responsibility.

Here is an outline of our rebranding stages.

First, the company's mission statement is revised to reflect its new image.

Second, the company's name is changed.

Third, the company's logo is changed or updated. A design firm is chosen and hired to create a new logo. The new logo is tested with clients, customers and staff before an agreement is made on the final design.

Fourth, a marketing plan is created to introduce the new look and name of the company to customers, stakeholders, and even competitors. A calendar of events is designed to outline the main ads and promotions.

Fifth, the new logo is tested out. Feedback from people involved is given so as to allow changes to be made before the final launch.

Finally, the new brand is rolled out. A public event is hosted and the new image, name and product line is presented to both current and potential customers.

Let's Practice!

Let's get * "Back to the Future"

* "Back to the Future" was a 1980s science fiction film.

Instructions: Cross out the incorrect words in the text. Correctly rewrite the text below. Read the text aloud with your partner. Correct each other's intonation and pronunciation.

- As I was saying, the advantages of rebranding are numerous. First, it will helping hide malpractices of the past. Second, it is go to strengthen the team and will certainly improved pride among staff. Also, it address both internal and external issues. Furthermore, it reposition the company. In other words, it's going to being aligned with who they are and where they want to be. Finally, it will to help us align with current trends in the market.

Let's Practice!

What information was stressed in the meeting?

Instructions: Read the sentences aloud stressing your those words that are in bolds. Record yourself saying the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

- We have all been under a lot of pressure lately.
- A crisis is, indeed, a stressful situation.
- If everyone maintains the same goals, a crisis can certainly be overcome. And when it comes to overcoming one, it is important to discuss how to move forward.
- A great job was done handling the early stages of the crisis. From a brand perspective, however, we're still not out of the woods yet.
- Farmani and his company were hit hard and, as a result, the company's profitability was affected. A negative association was made so my plan is to rebrand the company.

Extension Activity

Create a survey to rate three company's logos.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Go online and choose three famous but different logos from three separate companies.
- Write five questions about the effectiveness, positive association, clarity or design of the logos.
- Show the logos to and ask at least four people the questions to find out which logo is the most effective.
- Write notes on their answers and see if there are conclusions to be drawn about the logos.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I find three famous logos.

☐ ☐

I write five survey questions about the logos.

☐ ☐

I show the logos and ask the questions to five different people.

☐ ☐

I write notes on their responses.

☐ ☐

I draw conclusions about the survey results.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- numerous (adjective): many; lots
e.g. The advantages of rebranding are numerous.
- malpractice (noun): illegal or dishonest behavior
e.g. It will help hide malpractices of the past.
- to strengthen (verb): to make something more powerful or more effective e.g. It is going to strengthen the team and will certainly improve pride among staff.
- to reposition (verb): to change the way that customers see a product or company e.g. It repositions the company.
- to align (verb): to change something in order to match it with something else
e.g. It's going to be aligned with who they are and where they want to be.
- current trends (noun): the general direction in which things are changing e.g. It will help us align with current trends in the market.
- to roll out (expression): to release a new product to the public for the first time
e.g. We've managed to roll out a number of new products.

Learning Points

Passive Voice

In English, sentence structure usually follows the same sequence: subject + verb + object. The subject comes first and the object comes last. However, if you don't want to pay special attention to the subject, you can change the word order. One way of doing this is by using the passive voice to change the focus in a sentence.

The passive voice allows you talk about an event or action from the point of view of the thing or person affected. Sometimes you can write a sentence without even mentioning the agent (who or what was responsible for the action).

This is how the passive is formed: thing receiving action + be + past participle + (by) + (thing doing action)

In informal spoken English, we sometimes use get instead of be to form the passive.

Examples:

- The company's mission statement is revised (OR: the company's mission statement gets revised).
- The company's name is changed.
- The company's logo is updated.
- A new logo is chosen by a design firm.
- A marketing plan is created to introduce the new look to stakeholders.

Learning Points

Future with "will" and "be going to" in Present Continuous and Present Simple

Will and Be Going To

If you talk about something that is planned, or something that is likely to happen in the future, you can use the modal will (or be going to) before the base form of the main verb.

Present Simple

You use the Present Simple to talk about facts, habits, and routines, or to describe things that happen in general.

Present Continuous

You use the Present Continuous to emphasize what is happening now, at the moment of speaking, or to talk about things that are changing, like trends or developments.

Will	This will help us hide malpractices of the past. It will boost morale among us.
Be going to	It is going to strengthen the team. It is going to be aligned with our current views.
Present Simple	It addresses issues that are both internal and external. It repositions the company in the current market.
Present Continuous	We are going to continue with our meeting for now. We are integrating social responsibility in our business.

